Solar panels, which consist of cells, are primarily used to convert solar energy from the sun into electric energy (electricity). Solar Panels were developed about 100 years ago. In the early years, they were used to convert solar energy, which in turn was utilized for the production of steam and this was employed to drive machinery at that time.

Manufacturing with adhesives There are many areas of solar panel construction where structural adhesives would be a viable alternative to mechanical fasteners including the assembly of PV panels and in the supporting framework structure. For example, in photovoltaic cell production, the active silicon layer is often sandwiched between two glass panels.
