What voltage is used in Laos?

The voltage used in Laos is 230V with a frequency of 50Hz. If the voltage and/or frequency in your country is different, you may need a voltage converter if your hair dryer, hair straightener or curling iron is not compatible with this.

Do I need a voltage converter in Laos?

In North America, the standard plug types are Type A and Type B, with a voltage of 120V. Since Laos uses Type A, B, C, E, and F outlets, you will need a Type A/B to Type C/E/F adapter depending on the socket type. Additionally, as the voltage in North America is different, you may also need a voltage converter for devices that are not dual-voltage.

Does a laptop charger work in Laos?

In Laos, the standard voltage is 230V and the standard frequency is 50Hz. Most laptop chargers are designed to be compatible with a range of voltages (dual voltage), so they should work with outlets in Laos without any issues.

Do I need a travel adapter in Laos?

The electrical outlets and power plugs in Laos are of types A, B, C, E & F (see images). If your country uses the same electrical outlets and power plugs, you don't need a travel adapter. However, you may still need a voltage converter if the voltage is different.

What is the standard frequency in Laos?

However, the standard frequency in Laos is 50 Hertz, which is different from some countries that use 60 Hertz. If you are traveling from a country with a different voltage or frequency, you will need to use a power converter or adapter to ensure your electronic devices operate safely and correctly.
