What is solar photovoltaic bracket?

Solar photovoltaic bracket is a special bracket designed for placing, installing and fixing solar panels in solar photovoltaic power generation systems. The general materials are aluminum alloy, carbon steel and stainless steel. The related products of the solar support system are made of carbon steel and stainless steel.

What types of solar photovoltaic brackets are used in China?

At present, the solar photovoltaic brackets commonly used in China are divided into three types: concrete brackets, steel brackets and aluminum alloy brackets. Concrete supports are mainly used in large-scale photovoltaic power stations. Because of their self-weight, they can only be placed in the field and in areas with good foundations.

What is an example of an assembled steel bracket?

The following is an example of an assembled steel bracket. First, high-quality section steel usually has a high-level galvanizing process. According to the requirements of national standards, the average thickness of the galvanized layer should be greater than 50mm, and the minimum thickness should be greater than 45mm.

What are the technical difficulties in assembling section steel brackets?

In short, there are many technical difficulties in the production process of the assembled section steel bracket, which requires metallurgical engineering and technical personnel to overcome technical barriers and further reduce its use cost.

What is building integrated photovoltaics (BIPV)?

One of the key elements of this transition is the emergence of Building Integrated Photovoltaics (BIPV). Within the European Union (EU), directive 2010/31/EU states that all buildings occupied by public authorities built after 31st December 2018 should be nearly zero energy rated.

Can steel be used as a substrate for PV applications?

Studies have assessed the viability of utilising steel as an effective substrate material for PV applications. Ke et al. experimented with steel as a suitable substrate, utilising varying thicknesses for the IL applied to the stainless steel.
